BOARD OF ZONING ADJUSTMENT

Application No. 16921 of Celia Berg and Jack Benson pursuant to 11 DCMR § 3104.1 for a special exception to allow a rear addition to a single-family dwelling under section 223, not meeting the lot occupancy (section 403), rear yard (section 404), and nonconforming structure (subsection 2001.3) requirements in the R-2 District at premises 4432 Faraday Place, N.W. (Square 1582, Lot 190).

HEARING DATE: October 8, 2002

DECISION DATE: October 29, 2002

DECISION AND ORDER

This application was submitted June 24, 2002, by the owners of the property that is the subject of the application, Celia Berg-Benson and Jack Benson (collectively, "Applicant"). The Zoning Administrator informed the Applicant by memorandum dated June 20, 2002 that several variances were necessary to allow construction of an addition to the Applicant's detached single-family dwelling. The Office of Zoning later determined that the Applicant's development plans were eligible for consideration as a special exception under section 223.

Following a hearing on October 8, 2002 and a public meeting on October 29, 2002, the Board voted 5-0-0 to approve the application.

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

Notice of Application and Notice of Hearing. The Office of Zoning mailed the Councilmember for Ward 3, the Office of Planning, the Department of Public Works, Advisory Neighborhood Commission ("ANC") 3E, and Single Member District/ANC 3E03 memoranda dated June 28, 2002 providing notice of the application. Pursuant to 11 DCMR § 3113.13, the Office of Zoning mailed letters or memoranda dated July 31, 2002, to the Applicant, ANC 3E, and all owners of property within 200 feet of the subject property providing notice of the hearing.

Requests for Party Status. ANC 3E was automatically a party in this proceeding. The Board granted a request for party status from Kathleen Beckwith, the owner of property abutting the subject property.

Applicant's Case. The Applicant stated that the special exception was needed to allow construction of a one-story addition to the rear of a single-family detached dwelling intended to increase the living space in the house by creating a new family room. The planned addition would be similar in appearance to the existing house.

Government Reports. By memorandum dated October 8, 2002, the Office of Planning (“OP”) recommended approval of the requested special exception. According to OP, the proposed one-story rear addition would comply with the requirements for special exception relief, would be in harmony with the general purpose and intent of the Zoning Regulations and Zoning Maps, and would not tend to affect the use of neighboring property adversely.

ANC Report. By letter dated October 7, 2002, the commissioner for Single Member District ANC 3E03 indicated that ANC 3E had not taken a vote on the application.

Persons in Opposition to the Application. The party in opposition, Kathleen Beckwith, contended that the Applicant’s proposed addition would block light to her property and obstruct the view from the side and rear of her property.

Hearing. A public hearing on the application was conducted October 8, 2002. Testimony and evidence was provided by the Applicant, the Office of Planning, and Kathleen Beckwith, a party in opposition to the application.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The subject property is located at 4432 Faraday Place, N.W. (Square 1582, Lot 190) in the Friendship Heights neighborhood of Ward 3. The site is improved with a two-story single-family detached house built in 1930.
2. The Applicant proposes to build a one-story, one-room addition to a portion of the rear of the house that would be used as a family room. The planned addition would be constructed of “cedar shake shingle” to match the exterior finish on the existing structure in appearance and character. The addition would have three French doors and windows located high on the rear exterior wall designed to allow light to enter without impinging on privacy. The addition would be built on piers at its rear corners, rather than having a full foundation trenched into the ground.
3. The proposed addition would include a landing, three feet wide and approximately three feet above the ground, at the rear exit door and three steps exiting into the east side of the rear yard.
4. The Applicant’s house is located six feet from the property line on the east and five feet from the property line on the west. The houses located on the abutting parcels on either side of the Applicant’s house also have side yards.
5. The subject property is located on an interior lot on the south side of the street, so that the Applicant’s house and neighboring residences have a north/south orientation.
6. The subject property and many other houses on the same block have trees and fences in the rear yards that minimize visibility between the subject property and abutting rear yards.

7. The lot area of the subject property is 3,412.5 square feet. The existing dwelling occupies 1,203 square feet of lot area, and the planned addition – 16.6 feet deep by 16.2 feet wide, with an area of approximately 269 square feet – would bring the total occupied area to 1,472 square feet. Lot occupancy with the proposed addition would therefore be 43.13%.
8. The rear wall of the existing dwelling is approximately 25 feet from the rear property line. The proposed addition would project into the rear yard setback area by 11.4 feet. The rear wall of the planned addition would be eight feet, six inches from the rear property line; including the landing, the distance to the rear property line would be five feet, six inches.
9. The subject property is zoned R-2. The predominant land use in the vicinity of the subject property is low-density single-family detached dwellings.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Applicant seeks a special exception under section 223 pursuant to 11 DCMR § 3104.1 to allow construction of a one-story addition on the rear of a single-family detached dwelling in the R-2 zone. The Board is authorized to grant special exceptions where, in the Board's judgment, a special exception would be in harmony with the general purpose and intent of the Zoning Regulations and Zoning Maps and would not tend to affect adversely the use of neighboring property in accordance with the Zoning Regulations and Zoning Maps. D.C. Official Code § 6-641.07(g)(2) (2001); 11 DCMR § 3104. Pursuant to section 223, the Board may permit, by special exception approval, an addition to a one-family dwelling that does not comply with requirements pertaining to minimum lot dimension, lot occupancy, rear and side yards, courts, and nonconforming structures, subject to the conditions enumerated in section 223. The Applicant's property does not comply with requirements pertaining to minimum lot area, lot occupancy, rear yard setback, and nonconforming structures.

Lot area. The minimum lot area required for a single-family detached dwelling in an R-2 zone is 4,000 square feet. 11 DCMR § 401.3. The lot area of the subject property is 3,412.5 square feet. The subject property contains a nonconforming structure devoted to a conforming use; that is, a single-family detached dwelling built before the adoption of the Zoning Regulations on a lot that is smaller than the minimum size prescribed by the Regulations for the R-2 zone.

Lot occupancy. The maximum permitted lot occupancy for a single-family detached dwelling in an R-2 zone is 40 percent. 11 DCMR § 403.2. The lot occupancy of the subject property, with the planned addition, would be 43 percent. Pursuant to 11 DCMR § 223.3, the lot occupancy of the dwelling, together with the addition, may be as high as 50 percent in the R-2 district, if approved by the Board consistent with the requirements of section 223.

Rear yard. The required minimum depth of a rear yard in an R-2 zone is generally 20 feet. 11 DCMR § 404.1. Although the existing rear yard setback on the subject property is approximately 25 feet and therefore larger than the required minimum, the Applicant's planned addition would project into the rear yard setback area by 11.4 feet. Under the Applicant's proposal, the distance from the planned addition to the rear property line would be 8.5 feet, or 5.5 feet including the three-foot-wide landing and stairs outside the addition's door leading to the rear yard.

§ 223 provisions. The Applicant seeks approval of an addition to a one-family dwelling that does not comply with requirements pertaining to minimum lot area, lot occupancy, rear yard, and nonconforming structures. The Board may grant such approval as a special exception subject to the provisions enumerated in section 223. The provisions include that the proposed addition must not have a substantially adverse effect on the use or enjoyment of any abutting or adjacent dwelling or property, and in particular (a) the light and air available to neighboring properties must not be unduly affected; (b) the privacy of use and enjoyment of neighboring properties must not be unduly compromised; and (c) the addition, together with the original building, as viewed from the street, alley, and other public way, must not substantially visually intrude upon the character, scale and pattern of houses along the subject street frontage. 11 DCMR § 223.2.

The Board credits the testimony of the Office of Planning in concluding that the Applicant's proposed addition is consistent with the requirements for special exception approval under section 223. For the reasons discussed below, the Board is not persuaded by the testimony of the party in opposition that the planned addition would encroach substantially into the rear setback and adversely affect abutting property by overshadowing the back yard and blocking light to the neighboring house, diminishing privacy and enjoyment of the abutting property, or possibly damaging a mature tree.

The planned addition will not unduly affect the availability of light or air to neighboring properties, given its relatively small size, its location at the rear of a structure oriented north/south, and the adequate size of the side yards located between the subject dwelling and neighboring properties. The addition will not compromise the privacy of use and enjoyment of neighboring properties, in part because the subject property and many other houses in the same block have trees and fences in the rear yards that minimize visibility between the subject property and abutting rear yards. The fenestration of the planned addition provides for high clerestory windows, which will not allow visibility between the adjoining residences.

The addition will not visually intrude on the character, scale, or pattern of houses along the street frontage. The one-story addition will be built at the rear of and along the same building alignment as the existing dwelling, and will not be visible from the street. The addition will be constructed of materials similar in appearance and character to the existing dwelling. Its construction on piers, rather than having a full foundation trenched into the ground, will avoid harm to the roots of mature trees growing nearby.

The Board concludes that approval of this application will not permit the introduction or expansion of a nonconforming use, in violation of 11 DCMR § 223.5. Rather, the Applicant's planned addition will be devoted to single-family residential use, which is a principal purpose of the R-2 zone.

The Board also credits the testimony of OP in concluding that the requested special exception is in harmony with the general purpose and intent of the Zoning Regulations and Zoning Maps and would not tend to affect adversely the use of neighboring property. The R-2 district is designed to protect the relatively low-density residential land use that characterizes the zone. The Board notes that the Comprehensive Plan Generalized Land Use Map depicts the site in the low-density residential land use category, in which single-family detached and semi-detached housing is the predominant land use. The planned addition will continue and improve the use of the subject property as a single-family dwelling.

For the reasons stated above, the Board concludes that the Applicant has satisfied the burden of proof with respect to the application for a special exception to allow construction of a one-story addition to the rear of a single-family detached dwelling in an R-2 zone.

Accordingly, it is therefore ORDERED that the application is GRANTED.
